

Pompei truffle-growing company was founded by Emiliano Pompei, Doctor of Forestry, who started his business activities after researching and identifying new truffle-growing locations in the Marche region, besides writing published reports on local truffle production.

Product quality is guaranteed by the professional skills applied to the various production steps and the use of advanced technology and innovative procedures, besides preserving local traditions and complying with growing methods.

Several professionally qualified and officially recognized studies have improved truffle cultivation in a “state-of-the-art” truffle- ground, as defined by Dr Pompei.
